Blodgett of Grand Rapids. The ceremony took place in New York city June 3 at Grace church on Broadway. But few guests were present, only the intimate family friends of the bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lowe and John W. Blodgett were among the number. Many congratulations have been sent.

Lehman-Bader.
A pretty home wedding was celebrated last Wednesday evening at the old homestead of Mr. and Mrs. J. George Lehman, No. 108 Kent street. Their daughter, Miss Clara Lehman, was married to George Bader of this city, the marriage ceremony being performed at 8 o'clock by the Rev. Charles J. T. Frinks of the German Evangelical Lutheran church on East Bridge street. The couple of honor were Miss Carrie Brown and Miss Lena Frey, both residents of the Valley City and intimate friends of Miss Clara. The bride was attired in a costly gray pearl suit, richly trimmed in tulle lace. The gown was cut and draped in empire style. The first maid of honor, Miss Carrie Brown, was gowned in turquoise silk and wore and carried forget-me-nots. The second maid of honor, Miss Lena Frey, wore a soft cream, white dress.

Mrs. D. H. White played Mendelssohn's wedding march on the piano as the bridal party entered the parlors, that had been decorated in red and white roses, carnations, with sunflowers and ferns twined among the flowers. Forty guests witnessed the ceremony. Among the guests from abroad was Mrs. M. Bader, aunt of the groom, who came from Stuttgart, Germany, to witness the ceremony and to give her blessing at the marriage of her favorite nephew. The refreshments were dainty. The presents were many and mostly of silver and furniture.

Mr. and Mrs. Bader went immediately to their handsome home at No. 329 Broadway.

Bride's Tea.
On Monday evening last Miss Sadie Louise Littlefield of No. 171 Ransom street, gave a farewell bridal tea in anticipation of the event of her marriage, to occur on the Wednesday following. The guests were the groom, Louis Alexia Cornelius of Chicago, and his brother, Harold Cornelius of the same place; Mrs. May Scott of Chicago, sister of the groom, and the Misses Mabel Marshall, Nellie McKee, Lois Tallman, Florence Reynolds and Florence Antisdel, and the master of ceremonies, Comstock Kunkle.

For Impartial Suffrage.
On Wednesday afternoon an unusually large gathering of the Political Equality Club, and its visitors met at the delightful home of the president, Mrs. Mary Gould, Pearl of No. 111 East Bridge street. Among those who were the guests of the club were Mrs. Inez Sexton Hutton of San Francisco, Mrs. Mary Kleinhamms, Mrs. C. F. Tuxbury, Mrs. J. H. Atkins, Mrs. Victoria Martin and the Misses Ella and Hattie Ward. An interesting musical program was enjoyed. Mrs. Hutton sang very sweetly, "Sweetest That Ever Brightest," from the opera of Maritana, and Miss Ella Ward sang "Angel's Serenade," with piano accompaniment by Miss Hattie Ward and a violin obligato by Mrs. Victoria Martin. The president gave an instructive talk on the club topic and read a copy of the congratulatory telegram sent by the state president and others to Governor Rich after the signing of the bill recently passed giving municipal suffrage to women in Michigan. Mrs. Mary Bryant read a paper entitled "An Open Confession." Mrs. Hain gave an article on "Deception." Mrs. Mary E. Edson recited "Tom O'Shaunter," and Mrs. Dr. N. L. Andrews a practical talk upon the benefits to be derived from an educated and impartial ballot. One new member joined the club. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Emily Hain at her home, No. 62 Straight street, on Wednesday the 24th.

Sword Drill at Lansing.
The entertainment given in Lansing Friday night by the Grand Rapids young women who gave the recent drill was a splendid success. Extensive preparations were made for their reception. A grand military parade was given at seven o'clock on the capital square, which was participated in by Company K, Lansing, the Coast Guards of Grand Rapids, the Mason company, Lansing Division Knights of Pythias, and Charlotte Knights of Pythias. Prince's military band furnished the music. The young women met with an ovation and many pleasant incidents added to the pleasure of the event.

Miscellaneous Matters.

FUN AT NORTH PARK.
The Management Has Prepared an Interesting Program for Today.

The attractions at beautiful North park today are numerous and of a nature to please the public. A program has been arranged that is unique and sure to be interesting. Those who enjoy athletic sports will be given an opportunity of witnessing one of the best entertainments given at North Park for many a day. Some of the principal features given will be furnished by the Grand Rapids athletic club, and any one knows what kind of a performance it will be when given by this popular organization. The fact that the Athletic club will be the prime entertainers is sufficient alone to attract thousands.

Among the list of athletic sports to be engaged the following are mentioned: The horizontal bar performance, the Grapello Bros., and the wonderful contortion feats of Edwin Smith. Other equally as important features are to be offered, all making a program of unusual merit. North Park is now in all her glory, the shady groves, the shady groves and the inviting pavilion were never more attractive than at the present time, and the favorite family resort was never visited by greater crowds of pleasure seekers. All of you, yearning for an afternoon of pleasure, refreshment and cool atmosphere, lie thyself to North Park today.

AN INTERESTING SIGHT.
Always To Be Seen at Dettenthaler's—Beauties of the Deep.

An interesting sight is always to be seen at Dettenthaler's. Any day one may care to call at his place of business, table delicacies are always to be found, arranged so daintily as to make the visitors' cravings for hunger increase perceptibly. Beauties of the deep, specimens from salt water and fresh are to be seen. Such dainties as frogs legs, soft shell crabs, lobsters, etc., are conspicuously displayed. Dettenthaler is in the van in his particular line, and if dainties are to be obtained he always has them in stock.

IN THE MIDST OF IT.
Scenes of Beauty and Thrill—Back From a European Trip.

"No, sir, I am not as fleshy as you, but I will acknowledge that my recent trip across the Atlantic was sufficient to give me an increase of nearly twenty pounds in weight. Pretty fair, is it not for a few weeks business and pleasure trip to Europe?" Such were the words of F. W. Wursburg yesterday to a representative of THE HERALD. Continuing Mr. Wursburg said: "I am back now for a change of business, refreshed and exhilarated by the salt sea breeze, and am ready for our annual reduction sale of summer goods. This is an event many ladies look forward to, and I am pleased to say I have many more surprises in store for our patrons than ever before during an event of this kind. Throughout each department I shall give a genuine reduction in price of all goods, and ladies know what that means. I am a firm believer in honest, reliable advertisements, and therefore those that I shall use during the sale will be no exception to that rule. My patrons know that I never exaggerate, consequently place reliance in my reduction sales. The one I am about to inaugurate commences tomorrow morning. As goods in each department will receive a large reduction in price, the advantages offered are almost incalculable. Yes, trade is very good; in fact, far better than I anticipated it would be, and in conclusion I will simply add that as long as the stores are visited by as many patrons each day as we have had recently, I will never complain about dull times."

CANNOT BE DOWNED.
The Manager of the Cottage Sample Room Congratulated by All.

The Cottage sample room, located at 118 Canal street, was visited last week by scores of gentlemen, all of whom are friends of the genial, popular manager, Chas. W. Johnston. They all called to congratulate Mr. Johnston on the good fortune that has followed him recently. All that are acquainted with this pleasant and interesting place know very well that he has experienced many drawbacks in his endeavors to conduct his business fairly and squarely. A nemesis seemed to follow him, and when ever some undertaking of his was about to reach the pinnacle of success, this same nemesis would be sure to appear. Chas. felt happy now, his troubles are all settled, his nemesis has fallen from grace and the numerous friends of Mr. Johnston wish him plain sailing from now on. THE HERALD prints a splendid likeness of the gentleman, taken just after a good, hearty meal. "The Cottage," of which Mr. Johnston is manager, is rapidly coming to the front, the business is on the increase, and merchants are beginning to appreciate the excellent lunches served daily in the dining parlors. THE HERALD some time ago devoted much space to the beauty of "The Cottage's" interior decoration, therefore a repetition at this time is superfluous. One thing Mr. Johnston wishes to impress emphatically on the minds of all, that he has no cull bell, dumb waiters or drop-a-nickel-in-the-slot devices in his establishment. Any one desiring a tempting and cooling beverage served promptly and gentlemanly, while quaffing it wish to partake of a nice collation, should not fail to go to "The Cottage."
